

Opportunity

Playing overseas is a fantastic opportunity; living in a foreign country and experiencing another culture while doing something you love. It is an amazing experience but comes with quite a bit of spare time. Technology and the Internet have helped fill the void. Staying in touch with friends and family has become easy and cost effective. You can call telephones in the States directly from your computer for an extremely low cost – so you don't have to depend on others to have specific hardware or software on their computer to communicate.

Because of these factors, I thought it would be wonderful to find a business opportunity that is not dependent on geography, will fill time and potentially provide additional income both during the season and the off-season. The network marketing industry enables great home-based business opportunities, but most rely on 'the party method' to expose others to your products. With living overseas part of the year, this just isn't feasible. I've found a company and a system that cannot only work in this situation but is in tune with the health & wellness trend that is currently underway.

People are becoming proactive about their health and preventing diseases before they begin. Natural food markets are becoming mainstream and supermarkets are stocking and promoting organic foods. However, it's critical to realize that it is not only what we put into our bodies, but also what we put on our bodies that is important. Our skin is the body's largest organ and serves to protect us from harmful environmental assaults. Products that are placed on the skin can be absorbed directly into the bloodstream, making it crucial to use safe products.

Arbonne International, a 27-year old company, is on the leading edge of this trend. The company was founded on a philosophy of pure, safe and beneficial products. By staying true to this philosophy, they have developed a wide range of personal care and health and wellness products that not only do what they are supposed to, but are also safe to use every day.

Arbonne distributes its product by word-of-mouth advertising rather than through traditional retailing channels. Some call this network marketing and others call it multi-level marketing. Simply put, it is a system of marketing that channels goods directly from the manufacturer to the consumer through a network of independent consultants. This cuts out the middlemen found in traditional marketing (wholesalers, warehousemen, advertisers, retailers), allowing Arbonne's consumers not only to use superior products—purchased at a discount—but to also earn an income.

We have an easily reproducible system that teaches people to divert money they are already spending on personal care products into purchases of Arbonne products, which can be bought directly from Arbonne.com at a 35% to 80% discount. By then teaching others to do the same, you and your contacts can earn an income while enjoying superior products. With Arbonne we are simply building a network of consumers and being paid for our word-of-mouth advertising. And the exciting part is that growth is exponential. By working just 10-15 hours per week and finding just a few people to join your team and utilize this system, you can build a substantial team. Why should multimillion-dollar corporations make all of the income? Why shouldn't you and the people you know reap the full benefits?

It's as simple as this: buy your personal care products from Arbonne instead of from traditional retailers. Teach others to do the same and make an income. No parties, no spa nights, no stocking or handling product.
